For government to have a across agency response group consistently set up – for rapid response, or whole of government initiatives - similar to the COVID 19 emergency hub

For government to retain the internal procurement processes as in COVID – this reduced significant paper based workloads

For government to look at interconnected networks, with an option for cross agency data collection and use – possible change in legislation required

For government to look at state purchasing in areas such as IT

For government to look at whole state agency support frameworks in both training/resource allocation

For government to introduce a skills register where state employees’ can seek “quick” transfers across agencies without requiring EOI processes, to improve cross agency skills, flexibility, innovation and reduce workload.

Thank you
