You don't often get email from livingauthentically@gmail.com. Learn why this is important

It is not explained why some changes would improve management eg managing all conflicts of interest under the Act.

Having 'potential conflicts of interest' seems bizarre and unworkable. Who is going to forecast the future? How would they be stated on the PIR? Do you want a form where people state spouse's and family members' occupation and so forth?

What are the exemptions going to be? This is a central concern.

The 'reasonable person test' seems a good idea. The guiding principles are good (though it isn't stated how they are implemented).
